When Motor Insurance Claims Get Complex

Motor insurance claims are often expected to be simple. In reality, many policyholders face delays, deductions, partial settlements, or confusing explanations during the claim process.

Our Motor Claim Expert Support is designed to help customers understand, navigate, and respond effectively when motor claims become complex — without confrontation and without replacing the insurer's role.

Why Motor Claims Often Become Complicated

Most motor claim challenges do not arise because a policy is invalid — they arise due to interpretation gaps and technical misunderstandings.

Customers commonly face issues such as:

- Claim delays without clear communication
- Unexpected deductions in repair estimates
- Confusion around depreciation, consumables, or parts pricing
- Disputes on cause of loss or admissibility
- Cashless claims being declined
- Total loss or IDV settlement disagreements

In such situations, knowing what is payable, what is negotiable, and what is non-payable makes a significant difference.
